DREYFUS' TRIAL

There Was Evidence Today Pro and Con as to the Prisoner.

KOSTNER'S STRONG GROUNDS

Of Innocence of Prisoner Was Repeated on the Stand Without Being Shaken.

LABORI AGAIN IN THE CASE

RENNES, France, August 22.—Major Grenier was the first witness this morning before the Dreyfus court martial. His testimony was favorable to Dreyfus. He said Esteban was a man of very bad character. When Grenier finished Labori, the court he wished later to recall General Mercier. Major Rollin, of the intelligence bureau, next took the stand. Labori demanded to know if the witness was responsible for the Behnfelder forgery. The witness was silent. Labori put the same question to Mercier, who replied: "I have no right to answer." "You have no right to tell the truth behind the pretense of secrecy," explained Labori firmly, "and I insist on an answer." Mercier again replied: "I have no right to answer." Labori said: "We'll let this stand then, then you refuse to answer. I expect strong refusal during the trial."

The case against Ed. and John Baker, charged with having a political difficulty with Stanz Paster, was dismissed, the prosecuting witness saying that he did not remember anything about the trouble.

John L. Carter and Wm. Nash, for having more liquor than the law allows, were taxed $1 and costs paid.

Justice Little will hold court Monday next, and there are seventy-five suits in his docket. Justice Uncle Tom has moved three times since his last court, and still the suits pile in.

County court begins at the court house the first Monday in September, which is not far off, and circuit court begins across the hall at the same time. There are blockets in both courts. The repairs on the court house are about finished, and people who have not seen the building will be agreeably surprised at the improvements.

THE COURTS.

Small Docket in Police Court This Morning.

Justice Little Holds Court Next Week County Court First Monday in September.

John Davis, of color, was this morning charged in the police court with whipping his wife, and the case against him was continued.

The case against Ed. and John Baker, charged with having a political difficulty with Stanz Paster, was dismissed, the prosecuting witness saying that he did not remember anything about the trouble.

ANOTHER CITIZEN DEAD.

Mr. F. A. Robinson, a Long Resident of the City, Passes Away.

Mr. F. A. Robinson, aged 81, died yesterday at noon at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Annie M. Barnes on West Jefferson street, of general debility.

Mr. Robinson was one of the oldest residents of the city, having been born in Franklin, Pa., in 1818, removing to this city in 1855.

He leaves besides an aged wife one daughter, Mrs. Barnes, and a son, Mr. Tim Robinson, of Colorado, and a number of grandchildren. Mr. Robinson for years lived at the corner of Tennessee and Third streets and was a great man, for many years had done nothing through his failings.

The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. H. H. Johnston of the Broadway Methodist church, at the residence at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The interment will be at Oak Grove. The friends of the family are invited.

THE STREET FAIR.

All Interested Should Attend the Meeting Tomorrow Night.

The meeting tomorrow night at the city hall to take steps to further the street fair project should be remembered by all who are interested in the fair. It requires quick action to get up anything like a respectable and paying fair, and all the business men of Paducah are urged to attend the meeting and assist the promoters to make it a go. Paducah had so far of any description last year and if the people expect to keep pace with other cities of this size, they must "get moving."

WILL SINK WELLS.

Manager Chesterfield Begins the Work at Once.

Mayor Lang and Health Officer Milam went out to the camping site yesterday afternoon and conferred with Mr. Chesterfield, the manager, in regard to the mosquito infestation that flows out into the adjacent hollows and ravines. Mr. Chesterfield agreed to begin today the work of sinking enough wells to accommodate the junks, which will abate the nuisance.

AUDITOR WEST'S VACATION

WIRELETS.

LEOBORN, Italy, Aug. 22.—Admiral Dewey on his flagship Olympia has sailed from this port to Suez, France, where he expects to remain a week. His health is again very fair.

LOUISVILLE, August 22.—Governor John Young Brown, the anti-slavery candidate for governor, will open his campaign at 1 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at Howling Green.

MARINA, P. I., August 22.—The United States transport Taitar, from San Francisco, July 24, with General Joseph Wheeler and his daughter, a troop of the Nineteenth Infantry, and more than $1,000,000 in coin, has arrived.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, August 22.—Major Russell Harrison held his own today. His case is still critical, but the physician's prognosis are more favorable.

HOTEL CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Secretary Root arrived today for a conference with President McKinley on matters connected with the Philippines campaign.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—It is now estimated that 2,500 victims of the recent hurricanes have been buried in Porto Rico; that 1,000 persons were injured and that 2,000 are still missing.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 22.—The Fourteenth Annual National Encampment of Union Veterans opened today with an attendance of 5,000. In connection with the encampment there is also being held the annual gathering of the Woman's Veteran Relief association.

Matthew McFall, a negro boy nine years old, attempted to rob the Lillian, the four year old girl of Luke Capp, a prominent citizen of Fulton, causing great excitement.

At the time of the deed the family were away from home. When the father and mother returned the enraged father grabbed a pistol and would have killed McFall, but the mother took it away. The father took a walking cane and broke it to pieces over him. The negro escaped, and the citizens are scouring the country for him. It caught another lynch mob, will follow, according to the reports sent out.

In accordance with an agreement he had with U. S. Deputy Marshal La Rue, the latter was notified and went straightway to the jail. Powell had yesterday executed him in the sum of $1,000 on three felony charges, to answer at the next term of the Marshall circuit court, and this morning Jailer Miller received from Benton the order for his release.

In accordance with an agreement he had with U. S. Deputy Marshal La Rue, the latter was notified and went straightway to the jail. Powell had yesterday executed him in the sum of $1,000 on three felony charges, to answer at the next term of the Marshall circuit court, and this morning Jailer Miller received from Benton the order for his release.

Deputy Marshal La Rue suavely called him and walking down to where the young man was, placed his hand on his shoulder and informed him that he was under arrest. He then read a government warrant to him, in which he charged with the offense of robbing the post office at Calvert City last February, in which a quantity of stamps and money belonging to the government were taken.

Powell was overwhelmed with surprise and shagrin at the unexpected turn affairs had taken. His friends had been at work in Benton for some time to execute the bond and secure his release. He was returned to jail and re-committed there by order of the government.

His relatives, Joe Daniels and Doc Powell, of Altoona, Marshall county, were here and offered to go to him on the government's charge but as U. S. Commissioner Puryear is the only one who can endorse a bond on the warrant, and he is absent, present out of the city and cannot accept one, the young man has to remain in jail. The same name are the ones who executed the $1,000 bond at Benton yesterday.

Four of the census enumerators are through with their work of taking the census and the other two, Messrs. S. H. Clark, in the First Ward, and F. G. Rudolph, in the Second, will have finished in a few days.

Thus far, the result is in round numbers: Sixth ward, 4,600; Fifth ward, 2,800; Fourth ward, 2,400; Third ward, 2,600. It is thought that the Second ward will climb to about 2,500 and the First to 4,000. This will barely bring the census up to 20,600, and may not do it after the figures are in, although Zorn, the directory man, swore to more than this two years ago.

The enumerators have had a good time, having some of them made as much as $9 a day while at work. Unfortunately the census comes up to expectations, the council will never be satisfied with it. The work was done too quick to be complete many think, yet others say it is as full as it can possibly be.

Nevertheless Zorn's sworn statement and the returns of the assessors are against the showing. There are according to the last assessor over 6,000 polls in the city. While this may be a "banded" showing still reduced fourth and fifth, according to the government rate of reckoning would give the city, over 20,000 people.

To Be Married Tomorrow—Well Known Young People.

County Clerk Graham this morning issued a marriage license to Mr. Gilbert Presnell, a well known young school teacher of Smithland, Ky., and Miss Fannie Fowler, of the same place. The marriage is to take place tomorrow morning.

He is charged with stealing wheat with breaking into the store of a man named Condie at Calvert City previous to the post-office robbery and with robbing the store of Mr. Theodor, in which Postmaster Halstead had his office, as well as with bringing stolen plows and other implements into the state from Handberg, Ill. He is alleged to have gone to a store there and taken a number of plows and such things off the porch of a country store and loaded them into a skiff. They were painted to disguise them, but the theft was discovered, and it was not long until the stolen plows were located, and the young man arrested.

His bond will be fixed as soon as Commissioner Puryear returns home. His pal, Freeman, is said to have connived, and County Physician Peulley has recommended that he be tried as humane.

Friday night another load of wheat was fired into Walters' house through the window, and badly frightened the inmates. Walters lost no time in reporting it to his friends and there was soon great indignation among the neighbors. He resides near Stiles in Marshall county.

Saturday night Walters had Sheriff Louis Waller and a posse watch the house, and about 2 o'clock in the morning another shot was fired through the window, and the unseen assassin escaped in the darkness, and his identity is unknown. This has created more excitement in that section, and another trial is likely to follow sooner or later.

General Goss presented two letters to the effect that the writers, both civilians, had obtained easy admittance to the office.

Dreyfus reported that the regulations were very strict at this respect and therefore some person had been guilty of gross breach of discipline.

Urbanci scored by adding that if entry into these offices was so easy why could not anybody procure the information Dreyfus is alleged to have obtained surreptitiously.

The deposition of Scheurer Kostner, the former vice president of the senate, was read. It was an outline of the origin and progress of the Dreyfus movement and ended with an eloquent plea for justice. Scheurer Kostner was the first man of political prominence to assert the innocence of Dreyfus. In 1897 he had obtained his acquittal before General Billot, but that officer refused to act. Scheurer Kostner then communicated his interview with Billot to Temps.

The next day Mathieu Dreyfus publicly accused Estebany of being the author of the libelous and Dreyfus affair was on.

Lieutenant Colonel Bertrand Montrouz took the stand and testified impressively against the conduct of Dreyfus toward the general staff. He denied ever admitting that Dreyfus was innocent.

When court adjourned early Day Day, with a beaming face, despite his fatigue, rushed over to Labori and shook his hand, murmuring thanks for the lawyer's brilliant work in his defense today. As Labori issued from the court he was greeted with enthusiastic demonstration by the crowd in the street.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1893.

Among those who didn't know him best, the blunt frankness and childlike sincerity of Jo Blackburn was once proverbial; but amongst those knowing him best, it was always taken cum grano salis, and late events have fully justified the latter. The hypocritical curse pronounced over the bier of the late Major Sanford "whom he loved as a brother" is now shifted from the slayer to the slain. Jo is great on exclamation and on epigrams, but as to frank friendship and blunt honesty, he is subject to a large and fatal discount.

Jo Blackburn's leather lungs are the superior to those of the old-fashioned bellows of the country blacksmith, but the me-and-gawd speech of his is getting decidedly old and weather-worn.

Wonder if Goebel would want the South Carolina "code of honor" incorporated in the rules of the house of representatives or is he sufficiently unto himself in that regard and would the splicing of the Blackburn system be necessary?

Appeals to God are frequent and confident by the Goebel stumpers, but it seems impossible that the gentlemen indulging in them should have read that the prophet said "the prayer of the wicked availth not."

The Democrat who votes for the Goebel ticket has a stomach for political faith not to be envied, but to be wondered at by all.

The plot thickens in Kentucky. Twenty-seven hitherto straight Democratic papers are fighting the regular nominees for governor and seventeen do not seem to be able to be elected. This seems almost incredible, after Bryan had endorsed the Goebel ticket and had announced that he would make speeches for it this fall.

Newspapers render these days will notice that some of the crowned heads are doing a great deal toward the preservation of the world's peace. The principal reason, of course, for the tendency among monarchs to work in favor of peace is the growing influence of the people over public affairs. Even in absolutist Russia itself opinion is now able to make itself felt. The desire of the people of every nation is for the maintenance of peace, and monarchs in these days are compelled to defer to the popular will in all their undertakings. It is no longer possible for a crown wearer to consult his own prejudices and ambitions solely, as was done by Louis XIV., Henry VIII., Frederick the Great and Bonaparte. The people, who fight the battles as well as pay for them, have a strong incentive to avert wars, and their wishes are coming to have a more and more decisive influence as the years pass. No monarch, not even the czar of absolute Russia, is in the stage in this day in the history that the older Bourbon, Tudor or Hohenzollern kings were. Thus peaceful tendencies pervade the great nations to a degree never shown in the world's history. William II., in holding out the olive branch to France and Nicholas II., in throwing open the ports of his new territory on the same terms to all the world as to Russia, mere voice the spirit of equality and fraternity which the rising tide of equality sends surging round the world.

Abuse is not argument nor does it make votes. The Goebelites are losing ground daily by their inability to argue their position without resorting to belligerent tactics. They are hot dogs for lack of argument.

Some good Democrat should secure copies of the Elizabethtown News and the Carrollton News and send them to Judge Redwine. Both these papers are supporting Goebel, but they want Redwine taken off the stump and seat home. And this will be done through the Democrats like to look in when they are red, as the Joker put it. Go in Redwine, are you are asked to go.

If the Democratic party continues the policy of putting Bryan up again the Republican lead would perhaps be greater than it would be if some one reckoned and was reactionary capable to be selected. Victory, how ever, is certain in any case, for in no preceding canvass since the war of secession has the minority party been so hopeless of victory on the eve of a presidential election as the Democrats are at this moment.

If Judge Redwine said the complimentary things of the western part of the state entitled to him it is safe to say he took away a better impression than he left behind. But then whatever the Judge says of western Kentucky must be taken with many degrees of allowance, for he says he found a united Democracy in this end of the state and yet he never met one twentieth of the people nor visited the same portion of the district. The Judge's hat must be badly torn if he talks that way through it wherever he goes.

It is difficult to appreciate the quality of honor that may be saved to a country by suppressions of truth, expression of lies and a wholesale resort to forgery and fraud and of force in the persecution of a victim selected for the sacrifice, with also due disregard for his innocence.

It is that the military idea of honor in France is already disgraced and disgraced in holding out. It is France's idea of honor, indeed, is France lost to all decency and without the pale of consideration or respect by other nations.

DISTINCTION NO DIFFERENCE

Nichols County Courier: Hon. Jas. Andrew Scott made the statement in his speech Monday that if a company should come to Carlisle and secure a franchise for an electric light plant, waterworks system, telephone system or anything else, by force and fraud, the people of this town would not be obliged to submit to such an outrage. James Andrew was talking about trusts, but in good many of his and others' remarks he refers to the Louis ville convention.

STEALING NOT ALLOWED.

Nichols County Courier: As blackburn says, that if there is any stealing of elections this year in Kentucky it will not be done by the Republicans. That is a truth which is applicable to every year for the last quarter of a century. He might have added that the Republicans and Democrats will see that there will be no stealing of elections by the Goebelites.

THE LATEST.

South Carolina farmers have raised 20,000,000 pounds of tobacco this season and largely increased their profits. The movement to plant less cotton in this state is making practical headway.

Havana has had 16 cases of yellow fever this year, 12 of which proved fatal. The record is the best in the history of the disease.

The Benton Tribune says there are now six anti-Goebelites in Marshall county. Reliable gentlemen from Benton say there are 42 Democrats in the Benton precinct who will not vote for Goebel. Here are two statements and you can take your choice. The Sun is satisfied with its information.

France will suffer more from the conviction of Dreyfus than will that persecuted victim of French army dishonor. The people of France won't soon live down any further injustice to the dedicated and disgraced Society of Colonial Wars.

New York is to have a very interesting exhibition in December. There will be an exhibition models of retirement houses as they are and as they might be under proper architectural impulses.

In raising and repairing three of the Spanish ships sunk by Dewey in Manila Bay Hobson has done a great piece of work. The Ishi de Tuta, the Don Juan de Austria are now valuable warships and a powerful addition to the navy of the United States. Hobson spent $400,000 in the work of raising and repairing them, and a conservative estimate of their present value is $600,000.

Ex Congressman Casey Young, who represented the Tenth Tennessee district in the house of representatives three terms, in 1875, 1879 and 1882, died in Memphis last week from a complication of diseases. Colonel Young was a strong silver Democrat.

In a head on collision between two trolley cars, a few miles north of Philadelphia, thirty people were hurt, three of whom probably will die.

The Transvaal government, it is said, has at last transmitted its reply to the propositions made by Great Britain.

Major Russell H. Harrison, inspector general, is critically ill of yellow fever at Santos, Cuba.

The British colonial office denies the report that an ultimatum has been sent to the Boers.

General Miercer, leader of the army which is pushing the prosecution of Captain Dreyfus, says that foreign powers have been misled by their press as to the correctness of the Dreyfus situation, "for the very good reason that a majority of the foreign newspapers have been bribeled by the Jewish syndicate."

The United Trades and Labor Assembly has concluded to be independent and ignore the decision of Samuel Gompers in favor of his rival, the Central Labor Union. The assembly has also decided to make a fight on the Louisville Hatway company to force it to employ conductors.

August 23 has been fixed as the date for a conference between representatives of the independent drivers and officers of the whiskey trust in an effort to limit the whiskey output. The meeting will be held in New York.

BATTLESHP.

The Kentucky's First Trial Will Be Conducted Soon.

The builders trial trip of the Kentucky will take place between September 20 and October 10, the exact date not yet having been determined upon. This trip will be made to satisfy the big vessel's builders that she is all right in every particular. Later on another trial will be made to test her speed and endurance. Then still, after another or final trial will be made in order to satisfy Uncle Sam's naval experts that she is all, and more too, than her designers and builders expected her to be.

Honor That Is Dishonor.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: The Dreyfus trial was made by the widow of Colonel Henry. Mrs. Dreyfus testified that her husband had admitted to her the forgery by himself of certain documents used to convict Dreyfus. His justification was that it was necessary to save the honor of France."

Something of the same spirit was evident in Justice Guerin's opinion, as a most matter-of-course story, how it had been decided to make Dreyfus the victim of this military scandal and how much care had been taken to suppress some of the facts lest their publication should involve France in trouble with other powers.

It is difficult to appreciate the quality of honor that may be saved to a country by suppressions of truth, expression of lies and a wholesale resort to forgery and fraud and of force in the persecution of a victim selected for the sacrifice, with also due disregard for his innocence.

It is that the military idea of honor in France is already disgraced and disgraced in holding out. It is France's idea of honor, indeed, is France lost to all decency and without the pale of consideration or respect by other nations.

THE PRINCE SALUTED HIM.

Couldn't Resist the Remark of the Bath Attendant.

The present emperor of Germany made a long stay at the Ilfracombe hotel in North Devon twenty years ago. He was anything but popular, for although he was then quite a youth, he maintained an attitude of extreme hauteur toward every one with whom he came in contact. Only one person ever succeeded in penetrating his frigid reserve, and that was the attendant at the "Tunnel" swimming bath, where the prince went for his morning swim. The famous bath at the Ilfracombe hotel was not built at that time. This attendant was a typical Devonian—shrewd, cheery, independent, and every day, when the prince came to the bath, he, oblivious of royal etiquette, bade him a hearty "Good mornin'," receiving nothing but a chilling stare by way of reply. Nothing daunted, on the third morning the man supplemented his greeting with the remark, "I be the custom in this country for folks to answer when a body says 'Good mornin' to 'em." The prince stared for a moment at the audacious native, laughed good-humoredly, and promptly saluted him, and from that time the morning greeting was never passed unnoticed.—London Sketch.

The Chinese Drama.

In Lord Leighton's studio, Holland Park Road, Kensington, a lecture, for the benefit of the Leighton House fund, was delivered on Thursday by Archibald Little, of Chung King, China, on "Chinese Drama and Chinese Industries." At the outset Mr. Little explained that, though it might appear to be incompatible to treat of two such subjects as the drama and industries in one discourse, the Chinese actors were in reality the most hard-worked people on the face of the earth. There was scarcely a town or village in China without its theater, neither was there a dinner, private or public, without the accompaniment of theatricals. He gave an account of the drama from the year 1000 B. C. down to modern times. The old drama was distinctly and purely religious, consisting chiefly of dancing and posturing. Confucius had stated that the old dramas represented the occupations of the people. The religious dances constituted the only Chinese drama until 500 B. C., but the plays which were now to be witnessed in every Chinese town were called modern, although we might be inclined to dispute how far that term was applicable, seeing that they nearly all belonged to the eighth and ninth centuries of the Christian era.

FIRST LORD FAIRFAX.

Interesting Story Told of Early Days in Maryland.

A letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer from John A. Thimley, a most remarkable old gentleman living at Portsmouth, Ohio, related many interesting anecdotes of the early days of Maryland. Mr. Thimley has in his possession old deeds executed by the first Lord Fairfax to Isaac Van Meter. It is seen that Mr. Thimley's father had known the first Lord Fairfax when that gentleman was alive and he related to him the story of how the country of Hampshire came to be named.

Fairfax was sitting in front of his hotel one day when a drove of hogs passed by and he inquired where they were from. "From the land along the south part of the Potomac, your Homage of a Peerage.

Mr. Lucy, in the May Strand, says that when the late Lord Barrington was made a peer of the United Kingdom people asked why. Members of the house of commons, ransacking their memories for suggestion of reason, recalled how one night, while Dizzy was still with us in the common room, he awoke from profound reverie, could not find his eyeglass. He waited to strike it in his right eye and take his accustomed survey of the house. With a haste and perturbation foreign to his impulsive manner, he rooted about the recesses of his waistcoat, tugged at his shirt collar, peered on the ground at his feet, had given it up for a bad job, when Lord Barrington, who was sitting near him, quietly put his hand between the premier's shoulders and brought round the errant glass. Dizzy, though not demonstrative, adds, Mr. Lucy, never forgot a friend or a favor. So it came about five years later, when the reins of power were slipping out of his fingers, he held them for a moment longer to give Lord Barrington a seat in the house of lords and a place on the roll of the English peerage. At least that was what was said at the time in the private conversation of Lord Barrington's friends.

THE COUNCIL

Last Night's Meeting Not so Large as Usual.

THE CITY PRINTING AFFAIR

Only One Ordinance Presented for Passage—Attorney Lightfoot Needed No Help.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MEETING

The regular meeting of the council was held last night, all the members present, Dr. Robertson was excused in the session.

The minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

Chairman Fowler, of the finance committee, read miscellaneous bills amounting to $2,120.81, which were allowed.

City Tax Collector Kraus reported the collection of $388.25 since last report. Received and filed.

Chairman Echel of the ordinance committee, read the ordinance making a public alley between Madison and Monroe streets and Eighth and Ninth, which was given final passage.

Chairman Jones of the relief committee, asked further time in the Hopwood petition for relief. Granted.

The claim for Mr. Levin, for injury to horse, was also deferred.

A petition for relief from overassessments on property on South Fifth street from Amos Montague was read. The committee recommended a reduction to $300, which was concurred in.

Mrs. Margaret Frady asked relief from overassessment on property on Third between Ninth and Tenth. Referred to special board of supervisors.

The former report of the relief committee relative to the todium property on Clark, used for street purposes was adopted.

Chairman Echel read a communication from the mayor, stating that as Mr. J. C. Robertson had ceased to be eligible to the office of public printer, he had appointed Mr. A. R. Lemon city printer pro tem.

A communication from Mr. J. E. Robertson was read, stating that he was still manager of the News and that the office was not vacated and he was still eligible and wanted to hold the office.

A motion was made to concur in the mayor's report.

Mr. Johnson said if Mr. Robertson was manager, there was no vacancy and the mayor had no vacancy to fill, temporarily when he appointed Mr. Lemon.

Mr. Robertson was present and said that he was still manager of the News and had been over since the transfer, and some inconvenience no one. The work in Oak Grove will begin at once.

The mayor asked him if he didn't tell him he, Mr. Robertson, was not still manager and Mr. Gates was manager.

Mr. Robertson said that he did, but that he did not want it known at the time, and would not make it known, now had not this come up. The minutes of the meeting of the directors of the News company showed that he was elected manager, he said.

Chairman Davis stated that he had seen the minutes, and corroborated Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Campbell Flournoy was present and said he was a resident of Paducah, and having taken up his home here and left Fulton for good.

The mayor submitted a written statement uprating his motion, which was based on the assumption that Mr. Robertson was no longer manager.

The mayor said he would not have taken the action he did not believe Mr. Robertson was not manager, but only assistant manager, as he said.

The motion to concur in the mayor's action was lost by a vote of 7 to 5, and Mr. Robertson is still city manager.

A petition from property owner on Ohio street between Second and Third for water mains to be laid was presented by Thomas Clark and concurred in.

A communication was read from Dr. Robert Rivera asking for the $60 additional owed him for services at the post house. Mr. Clark moved that the account be allowed and it was agreed.

The committee appointed to investigate the improvement of the alley near the market house, between Broadway and Court, recommended that the stones be taken up and gravel be placed in its stead. If the property owners will pay to hold it, the same to be charged to the city hall account.

Another improvement that the council decided to make last night was the purchase of the brick doublement house adjoining the city hall, which has always been occupied by the lockup keeper, and is highly needed and can be bought cheap. An option has been taken on the property, $1,000 in cash being paid to hold it, the same to be charged to the city hall account.

Chairman Fowler said the city attorney had been instructed to notify the board of sewerage contractor Linn White, and went to know with what success. Attorney Lightfoot said he had sent notice but received no reply. He was instructed to notify the surety company by registered letter.

Chairman Jackson, of the cemetery committee, reported in favor of moving the house from Oak Grove cemetery and dividing it into lots. A report from City Engineer Wilcox stated that this would give the city $25,000 lots aggregating in value $16,000.

The houses to be moved to the city's property outside. A plot was filed with the orphans' denizens, and with the assistance of Fire Chief Woods, who says there are fire traps and dangerous to the other buildings in the locality, may be able to do it.

Mr. Yeiser, of the committee appointed to investigate Mr. J. M. W. or tent proposition relative to the Wor-ton addition, reported that Mr. Wor-ton had withdrawn it upon learning what the report would be.

Mr. Frank Jenkins demanded immediate reparation for property on Adams street for which the city never had any valid title. It was bought from a man named Engle, who had no title to it, but which fact the city failed to investigate.

Referred to the street committee and city attorney with power to settle for a sum not exceeding $200.

O. A. Radford asked that $15 be refunded him for money overpaid on license. Referred to the mayor, with power to act.

Louis Rapp asked relief from over-assessment. Referred to board of special supervisors.

Mr. E. C. Terrell asked for an extension of time to January 1st on Tenth street improvement. Referred.

A proposition was made to sell the city the property on Court street adjoining the city hall for $3,000. Mayor Lang recommended that an option be taken on it to July 1900. Recommended.

The city attorney was instructed to take immediate steps to abate the nuisance in the form of undi-sirable tenants in the "Crookes," on Lower Broadway. They will be condemned by the fire chief and declared a nuisance.
